GLASGOW

● Climate summit

Glasgow is set to host a huge United Nations climate change summit in 2020. The city won the bid for the 26th Conference of the Parties, also known as COP26, alongside Italy. The summit will bring together up to 30,000 delegates and around 200 world leaders to discuss how they will tackle the climate emergency. Lasting two weeks, it will be the largest summit the UK has ever hosted.

LINCOLNSHIRE

● Fireman Sam given the boot

Lincolnshire Fire and Rescue has decided to get rid of Fireman Sam as its mascot, over concerns it could be putting off women from joining. The popular children's TV character will be replaced by new mascots called Freddy, Filbert and Penelope, characters shaped like fire extinguishers. Some people support the change, while others say it is silly.

LIVERPOOL

● Strawberry centre

A former children's home known as Strawberry Field has been turned into a new tourist attraction and youth training centre. The home was made famous by The Beatles' hit song, Strawberry Fields Forever. The Salvation Army, which ran the home from 1936 to 2005, has now opened it up for visitors to enjoy.

ENGLAND

● First aid lessons

A total of 1,600 schools have begun teaching first aid before lessons become compulsory in 2020. Primary and secondary school pupils will be taught a range of life-saving skills, such as CPR, in the classes, in case they ever need to help someone in an emergency.

LONDON

● Cricket on the tube

Tube passengers were left stumped when two teams of young people leapt on a London Underground train and started a game of cricket! The game, umpired by ten-year-old Mahdi from Bethnal Green, was organised to highlight the No Boundaries campaign. The campaign, run by the charity Chance to Shine and NatWest, aims to encourage more children to enjoy the sport. You can find your nearest session at chancetoshine.org/street.

KENT

● Smooth bumps

Kent County Council is painting fake speed bumps on local roads to trick drivers into slowing down. The road markings are designed to create an optical illusion. The unusual idea has already been implemented in East Farleigh and Ashford, but will be rolled out to other areas now.

UK

● Helping the homeless

Old uniforms worn by Virgin Trains staff have been turned into scarves, blankets and dog coats for the homeless and their pets this winter. The garments have been transformed by prisoners at HMP Northumberland's on-site textile factory. They will be given out at stations including London Euston, Birmingham New Street, Manchester Piccadilly, Liverpool Lime Street and Glasgow Central, or will go to local charities.

NEWS IN NUMBERS

3 movie screens are to be installed at Selfridges in London, making it the first department store in the world to have a permanent cinema. It will open to visitors at the end of November.

28 is the average number of pupils per class in a state primary school in the UK, says the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development. That makes them the biggest primary school classes in the developed world!

1.3 million British people think bacon comes from cows! A survey of 2,000 adults by HelloFresh also found that one in five can't make a Sunday roast dinner.

1 lone Wotsit was found in a crisp bag by a dad from London. Andy Stubbs said his family found it very funny when his bag of Wotsits had just one cheesy puff in it!

Tube passengers were stumped when two teams of sports-mad youngsters leapt on a carriage and started a game of CRICKET.

The infamous London announcement of 'Mind the gap' became 'Mind the bat' as the kids - from the national cricket charity 'Chance to Shine' - staged their girls vs boys match.

Since launching in 2005 and backed by NatWest, the charity has so far introduced more than four million youngsters to cricket.

The game, umpired by 10-year-old Mahdi, from Bethnal Green, came after 'Chance to Shine' conducted research, which showed that England's amazing Cricket World Cup win had sparked interest in the sport from children.

Most kids won't fly the nest until they reach 26

IF YOU'RE a devoted parent, it's just as well — you could be looking after your kids until they are 26. That's the age that the average adult becomes truly independent, according to a new poll by the National Citizen Service. People take longer to break the apron strings than previous generations as they spend longer in education and living costs have risen, researchers were told. They are also less likely to have learned domestic tasks by doing chores as a child. The NCS said it was 'great' people study longer but 'it means we have less "real world" experience'.

Sports-mad youngsters start a game of cricket on the tube

by Cricket World Wednesday 11 September 2019

Tube passengers were stumped when two teams of sports-mad youngsters leapt on a carriage and started a game of CRICKET.

The infamous London announcement of 'Mind the gap' became 'Mind the bat' as the kids – from the national cricket charity Chance to Shine – staged their girls vs boys match.

Since launching in 2005 and backed by NatWest, the charity has so far introduced more than four million youngsters to cricket.

The game, umpired by 10-year-old Mahdi from Bethnal Green, came after Chance to Shine conducted research, which showed that England's amazing Cricket World Cup win had sparked interest in the sport from children.

More than half (56%) of 8- to 16-year-olds said they were excited about cricket and want to learn how to play.

Of these, more girls than boys have set their sights on the game, with 58% wanting to pick up a bat or ball,

Tube passengers were stumped when two teams of sports-mad youngsters leapt on a carriage and started a game of CRICKET.

The infamous London announcement of 'Mind the gap' became 'Mind the bat' as the kids – from the national cricket charity 'Chance to Shine' – staged their girls vs boys match.

Since launching in 2005 and backed by NatWest, the charity has so far introduced more than four million youngsters to cricket.

The game, umpired by 10-year-old Mahdi, from Bethnal Green, came after 'Chance to Shine' conducted research, which showed that England's amazing Cricket World Cup win had sparked interest in the sport from children.

More than half (56 percent) of eight-to-16-year-olds said they were excited about cricket and want to learn how to play.

Of these, more girls than boys have set their sights on the game, with 58 percent wanting to pick up a bat or ball, compared to 53 percent of their male counterparts.
